EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations.)

These regulations raise the earnings limit which applies to recipients of sickness benefit, invalidity benefit and non-contributory invalidity pension in the circumstances mentioned below.

Although as a general rule a person is not entitled to any of those benefits if he is working, he may be entitled in certain circumstances, when he is working under medical supervision, or doing work which he has good cause for doing, but only if his earnings from the work do not ordinarily exceed a specified amount a week.

Regulations 2 and 3 increase the specified amount from £20 to £22·50.

Regulation 4 revokes the regulations which increased the amount to £20.
