CHAPTER 15.

An Act to amend the New Zealand Roads, &c. Loan Act, 1870.

[15th May 1873.]

33 & 34 Vict. c. 40.

WHEREAS by the New Zealand (Roads, &c.) Loan Act, 1870, (in this Act referred to as the principal Act) the Treasury were authorised to guarantee the payment of a loan not exceeding one million pounds, raised by the Government of New Zealand for the purposes therein mentioned, and it was provided that the Treasury should not give any guarantee unless and until provision had been made, as therein mentioned, for securing the payment of the principal, interest, and sinking fund of the said loan:

And whereas by the last paragraph of section three of the principal Act it was enacted as follows:

33 & 34 Vict. c. 40. s. 3.

"The Treasury shall not guarantee in any one year a larger sum than two hundred "thousand pounds, and the Treasury before guaranteeing any portion of the loan after "the first shall satisfy themselves that the portion of the loan already raised has been "or is in the course of being spent for the purposes mentioned in this Act:"

And whereas the said loan is a portion of a loan of much larger amount, which the Government of New Zealand are authorised to raise for the purposes mentioned in the above Act, and of which the residue will not be guaranteed by the Treasury, and a considerable portion of such loan has been actually raised without such guarantee, and part thereof to the amount of upwards of eight hundred thousand pounds has been actually expended for the purposes mentioned in the principal Act:

And whereas the Government of New Zealand have represented to the Treasury that the relaxation of the conditions of the above-recited enactment in section three of the principal Act would enable them to raise the said loan on better terms, and thus carry into effect at less cost the purposes of the principal Act:

And whereas it is expedient to substitute for the above-recited enactment of section three of the principal Act, such enactment as herein-after mentioned:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows; (that is to say,)

Amendment of sect. 3 of 33 & 34 Vict. c. 40.

1. The last paragraph of section three of the principal Act (which paragraph is above recited) is hereby repealed, and in lieu thereof be it enacted as follows:

The Treasury shall not after the passing of this Act give any further guarantee under the principal Act unless and until the Treasury are satisfied that the portion of the loan previously guaranteed, or an equal amount of any other loan of the Government of New Zealand, has been or is in the course of being spent for the purposes mentioned in the principal Act.
