(a) the annual holiday to be allowed in accordance with paragraph 2 of this Schedule in the holiday season in that year shall be reduced by the day or days of holiday so allowed prior to the commencement of that holiday season; and

Paragraph 4

Annual holidays shall be allowed on consecutive working days, being days upon which the worker is normally called upon to work (but not being days of customary holiday), and days of annual holiday shall be treated as consecutive notwithstanding the intervention of a customary holiday on which the worker is not required to work.

Provided that—

(1) where the duration of an annual holiday to which a worker is entitled exceeds the period constituting the worker's normal working week the said holiday may be allowed in two separate periods of such consecutive working days, if one of such periods is not less than the period constituting the worker's normal working week;

(2) Where under the provisions of paragraph 4 of this Schedule an annual holiday is taken in more than one period the holiday remuneration shall be apportioned accordingly.

Paragraph 7

Where any accrued holiday remuneration has been paid by the employer to the worker (in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 8 of this Schedule) in respect of employment during any of the periods referred to in that paragraph, the amount of holiday remuneration payable by the employer in respect of any annual holiday for which the worker has qualified by reason of employment during the said period shall be reduced by the amount of the said accrued holiday remuneration unless that remuneration has been deducted from a previous payment of holiday remuneration made under the provisions of this Schedule.

ACCRUED HOLIDAY REMUNERATION PAYABLE ON TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT

Paragraph 8

Subject to the provisions of this paragraph, if a worker ceases to be employed before being entitled to be allowed an annual holiday or before being allowed the whole of any annual holiday to which he is entitled under this Schedule, the employer shall, immediately on the termination of the employment (hereinafter in this Schedule referred to as " the termination date "), pay to the worker as accrued holiday remuneration:—

(i) in respect of any period of employment occurring before the 1st day of April immediately preceding the termination date, an amount equal to the holiday remuneration to which the worker would have been entitled under the provisions of paragraph 6 of this Schedule if he had been allowed an annual holiday in respect of that period of employment at the termination date, LESS any holiday remuneration already paid for any day or days of annual holiday allowed subsequently to the 1st day of April aforesaid in respect of that period of employment, and,

(ii) in respect of any period of employment since the 1st day of April immediately preceding the termination date, an amount equal to one day's holiday pay (as defined in paragraph 11 of this Schedule) multiplied by the number of days of annual holiday to which the worker would have been entitled under the provisions of paragraph 2 of this Schedule if by virtue of such period of employment he could have taken an annual holiday at the termination date, LESS any accrued holiday remuneration already paid by the employer to the worker in respect of that period.

Provided that no worker shall be entitled to the payment by his employer of accrued holiday remuneration if he is dismissed on the grounds of misconduct and is so informed by the employer at the time of dismissal.

PART IV

GENERAL

Paragraph 9

For the purposes of calculating any period of employment entitling a worker to an annual holiday or to any accrued holiday remuneration under this Schedule, the worker shall be treated—

(a) as if he were employed for a month in respect of any month in which—

(i) he has worked for the employer for not less than 72 hours and has performed some work to which statutory minimum remuneration applies; or

(ii) he has worked for the employer for less than 72 hours, or has performed no work, solely by reason of proved illness or accident (provided that the number of months which may be treated as months of employment for such reason shall not exceed two in any such period as aforesaid); and

(b) as if he were employed on any day of annual holiday allowed under the provisions of this Schedule or on any day of customary holiday on which the worker is not required to work, and for the purpose of the provisions of sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph, a worker who is absent on such a holiday shall be treated as having worked thereon for the employer for the number of hours ordinarily worked by him on that day of the week on work to which statutory minimum remuneration applies.

Paragraph 10

Where any day of annual holiday allowed to any worker under this Schedule falls upon a day of holiday or a half-holiday to which the worker may be entitled under any enactment other than the Wages Councils Act 1945, that day of holiday or that half-holiday, as the case may be, shall be treated as part of the annual holiday allowed under this Schedule.

Provided that where the total number of days of annual holiday allowed to a worker under this Schedule is less than the number of days in his normal working week, the said annual holiday shall be in addition to the said day of holiday or the said half-holiday.

Paragraph 11

In this Schedule, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say:—

"CUSTOMARY HOLIDAY" means

(a) (i) In England and Wales—

(ii) In Scotland—

the local Spring holiday;

the local Autumn holiday; and three other days (being days on which the worker would normally work) in the course of a calendar year to be fixed by the employer and notified to the worker not less than three weeks before the holiday; or (b) where in any undertaking it is not the custom or practice to observe such days as are specified in (a) (i) or (a) (ii) above as holidays, such other days not fewer in number, as may by agreement between the employer or his representative and the worker or his representative, be substituted for the specified days.

"ONE DAY'S HOLIDAY PAY" means the appropriate proportion of the remuneration which the worker would be entitled to receive from his employer at the date of the annual holiday (or where the holiday is taken in more than one period at the date of the first period) or at the termination date, as the case may be, for one week's work—

(a) if working his normal working week and the number of daily hours normally worked by him (exclusive of overtime)

(b) if the employer were not providing him with meals or board and lodging, and

(c) if he were paid at the appropriate rate of statutory minimum remuneration for work to which statutory minimum remuneration applies and at the same rate for any work for the same employer to which such remuneration does not apply, and in this definition "appropriate proportion" means—

where the worker's normal working week is six days	...	one-sixth
where the worker's normal working week is five days	...	one-fifth
where the worker's normal working week is four days	...	one-quarter
where the worker's normal working week is three days	...	one-third where the worker's normal working week is two days	...	one-half where the worker's normal working week is one day	...	the whole.

"STATUTORY MINIMUM REMUNERATION" means minimum remuneration (other than holiday remuneration) fixed by a wages regulation order made by the Minister to give effect to proposals submitted to him by the Wages Council.

"MONTH" means calendar month.

"WEEKLY SHORT DAY" means that day in any week on which a worker is, in accordance with the provisions of Section 1 of the Shops Act, 1912 (a), required not to be employed about the business of a shop after half-past one o'clock in the afternoon, or, where there is no such day, a working day in the week, fixed by the employer and notified to the worker not later than the Saturday preceding the week during which it is to have effect, or, failing such notification, the last working day in the week.

"WEEK" means pay week.

Paragraph 12

The provisions of this Schedule are without prejudice to any agreement for the allowance of any further holidays with pay or for the payment of additional holiday remuneration.
