EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The Regulations provide that all classes of industrial buildings are prescribed classes for the purposes of subsection (4) of section 12 of the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act, 1947.

The Regulations replace the Town and Country Planning (Erection of Industrial Buildings) (Scotland) Regulations, 1949. The main change is that no exception from the prescribed classes is made as regards extensions to industrial buildings, provision for which is now made in section 19 (2) of the Local Employment Act, 1960.
