Provided that—

(a) where, in any case, the aggregate amount of the graduated contributions paid by a person in that year exceeded the aggregate amount of the graduated contributions which would have been payable by him in that part of the year which ended with the income tax week in which he attained pensionable age if, in each income tax week beginning in that part of the year, a graduated contribution had been payable by him in respect of a weekly payment of remuneration made in that week at a level equal to the upper limit on the amount of weekly pay then taken into account under section 1(1)(b)(iii) of the Act of 1959 (which fixes the graduated contributions payable by employees and employers) the excess shall be treated as having been paid after the day on which he attained that age;
and

(b) the Minister may, if he thinks fit, direct that the provisions of this regulation shall not apply to any specific case or class of cases."

Transitory provisions

8.—(1) As respects the period beginning on 28th January 1965 and ending on 28th March 1965, the rate of a person's unemployment or sickness benefit for any day in the said period payable by virtue of section 26 of the principal Act (unemployment and sickness benefit for persons over pensionable age) shall be determined as if the day from which higher rates of retirement pension are payable by virtue of the foregoing provisions of these regulations were 28th January 1965.

(b) as respects any period ended before the appropriate date that person satisfied the said condition by reference to the weekly rate of benefit then in force; that person shall, for the purpose of his right to the amount in question, be treated as if, in any period referred to in sub-paragraph (b) of this paragraph, he had satisfied the said condition by reference to the increased weekly rate.

(a) S.I. 1961/557 (1961 I, p. 1228).

(3) In the case of a person to whom injury benefit under the National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Act 1946(a) is payable for 27th January 1965 at a reduced rate by virtue of the provisions of section 29 of that Act (adjustments for successive accidents) the rate of any sickness benefit payable shall be determined as if the day as from which higher rates of sickness benefit are payable by virtue of the foregoing provisions of these regulations were 27th January 1965 and, where appropriate, as if the references to 28th January 1965 in paragraph (1) of this regulation were references to 27th January 1965.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Regulations are made in consequence of the National Insurance &c. Act 1964 and accordingly, by virtue of Schedule 7 paragraph 10 of that Act, no reference of them has been made to the National Insurance Advisory Committee. The Regulations increase the rates of benefit payable under certain regulations made under the National Insurance Act 1946, in order to bring them into conformity with the higher rates of benefit payable directly under that Act by virtue of the Act of 1964. Provision is made in relation to the payment of additional benefit in the case of persons not residing in Great Britain, and also as to certain matters arising under the graduated pension scheme. The remaining provisions are of a minor or consequential character.
